Nurse.org is the largest website and community of nurses online. We impact the lives of nurses and nursing students by publishing thought-provoking content, supporting their career growth through high-caliber educational opportunities, and launching culture-changing initiatives.

TravelNursing.org connects the top staffing agencies in the country with highly skilled nurses to help fill those needs. Our philosophy is simple: everyone wins — nurses, hospitals, and patients — with travel nursing.

Our Editorial Process

We believe that no one knows nurses better than, well, nurses. That’s why we rely on registered nurses and other experienced healthcare professionals to write our content. We strive to be the go-to source for nursing news, trending topics, and educational resources. That means that you can trust us to have reliable, up-to-date information that’s continuously reviewed to ensure it’s as relevant and accurate as possible.

Creative Directors

Angelina Walker
Director of Nursing Content and Social Media: Angelina has her finger on the pulse of everything nursing. Whether it’s a trending news topic, valuable resource, or heartfelt story, Angelina is an expert at producing content that nurses love to read. She specializes in warmly engaging with the nursing community and exponentially growing our social presence.

Jessica Lyons
Managing Editor: Jessica is an experienced writer, editor, and content strategist who loves all things having to do with the written word.
